ABSTRACT

Part of the "Comprehensive National Survey of Migrant Programs" series, this directory was prepared for use by agencies working with migrant and seasonal farmworkers in the Southwestern states of Arizona, Colorado, Kansas, Nevada, New Mexico, and Utah. The directory lists programs, services, and resources available to migrants in these states. Special emphasis was placed on information and data current as of summer 1974, obtained from Federal, State, and local agencies in the various states. Information is given for each state on: (1) programs; (2) crops and work periods; (3) migrant population and wages by county; (4) labor camps; and (5) supplementary data such as information sources and exhibits which depict county distribution and state relation to the national migratory patterns. The programs listed provide educational, health, legal, and job placement services to these farmworkers. Some of the listings of organizations, programs, or agencies may contain some obsolete information due to their: instability; being subject to change as new needs, priorities, and objectives appear; or as operating funds expire. Given in the appendix are an annotated bibliography of publications from the National Migrant Information Clearinghouse, Juarez-Lincoln Center and maps of the national migratory patterns, the Navajo Reservation, relative to surrounding states, and a migratory workers' road map. Dear Sir(s):

This directory of programs and services available to migrant and seasonal farmworkers in the Southwestern States is one of several in the National Comprehensive Migrant Programs Survey series. The entire series covers all the States in the mainland United States, including the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

These directories are compiled for use by agencies working with migrant and seasonal farmworkers. It is our objective that in the utilization of this directory, the awareness of programmatic needs and services of the farmworker will be increased.

Our goal has been and continues to be the creation of a greater sense of community among agencies seeking to serve the migrant and seasonal farmworker nationwide.

Sincerely,

ANDRE GUERRERO,

INTRODUCTION

MIGRANT PROGRAMS
IN ARIZONA, COLORADO,
KANSAS, NEVADA,
NEW MEXICO,
AND UTAH.

The purpose of this book is to consolidate under one cover a listing of all services and resources available to migrant and seasonal farmworkers during their stay in the States here included. The staff of the National Migrant Information Clearinghouse has endeavored to make this directory as complete and as accurate as possible. However, some of the listings of organizations, programs or agencies may contain some obsolete information after the printing date. Although many programs have the stability of long term and established services, others are often short-lived or constantly subject to change as new needs, priorities and objectives appear or as operating funds expire.

Information for this directory was obtained entirely from Federal, State and local agencies in the various states. Only programs actually in existence at the time the information was collected have been included, but due to the lag time between gathering information and then publishing it, an effort was made to keep astride of all farm labor developments in these states during this time. Special emphasis was placed in obtaining only information and data current as of summer 1974. There are several reasons why this was not always possible. Many organizations, particularly state agencies, do not normally summarize their service activities until the end of each calender year. Still others provided less than full cooperation to Clearinghouse staff, or did not cooperate at all. As a result, some of the information had to be obtained from secondary sources.

This directory is therefore only as accurate as the information which was provided by the sources contacted. A sincere effort has been made to authenticate as much of the information that appears in this book as possible. However, the limited time and resources available for this project virtually rendered impossible the verification of every item of information.

Arizona Job Colleges, Inc.
1665 North Final Avenue
Casa Grande (Final County), Arizona 85222
(602) 836-2151

Funding Sources: U.S.D.O.L., Title III-B, U.S.D.H.E.W., Arizona Department of Economic Security
Service Area: State of Arizona, concentrations in Gila and Final Counties
Migrant Population Served: 674 families

Arizona Job Colleges, Inc. helps migrants indirectly by offering educational services to any qualifying person. Job Colleges offer remedial education and vocational training as well as tutoring services.

Students are prepared for a General Education Development (GED) diploma. While a student is in school, his housing and utilities are paid. The student is given a living stipend and is trained in home living skills such as home maintenance, home care, budgeting, shopping, cooking and sewing.

The students are given both psychological and vocational testing. From these tests and counseling, job placement can be ascertained. Job Colleges helps with relocation and job development.

The office has a medical staff of two doctors, a dentist, a pharmacist and their supportive staff.

*Remedial education and vocational training are scheduled from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, year-round. Counseling and medical services are available on a twenty-four (24) hour basis.

Arizona Job Colleges, Inc. has no additional service sites.

Maricopa County Migrant Health Project
1601 North 8th Place
Avondale (Maricopa County), Arizona 85323
(602) 932-3600

Funding Sources: U.S.D.H.E.W., Maricopa County Health Department
Service Area: Southwest portion of Maricopa County
Migrant Population Served: 865

The Maricopa County Migrant Health Project covers the southwestern part of the county providing services in the areas of medicine, nursing, dental care, nutrition, health education and social services.

The Maricopa County Family Health Clinics each have at least one physician. The clinics provide a general practice family health program offering services including screening, minimal laboratory services, health education, medical exams, diagnosis, treatment, referral and follow-up when indicated.

The nursing staff works to improve migrant health through the teaching of disease prevention and the maintainence of good health practices.

The functions and activities of the nursing staff include those related to administration, supervision, education and direct patient service.

The migrant health program has a mobile dental trailer equipped with two dental units, radiographic, developing, sterilization and storage facilities. The trailer is staffed by a full-time dentist, two dental assistants and a part-time hygienist.

The dental program provides preventive, educational and therapeutic services to migrant children in rural communities and migrant camps throughout Maricopa County.

The trailer is parked for a period of three to five months in each of the following communities: Avondale, Buckeye, Cashion, El Mirage, Peoria and Tolleson. Hours of operation are 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, on an appointment basis except for emergencies.

The nutrition services of the Migrant Family Health Project include providing food program information, helping homemakers become better food buying consumers and encouraging sound nutritional practices.

The nutrition program also works to expand nutrition services to other community agencies and to promote better dietary control for diabetics.

Health education is another part of the clinic. Staff members work closely with school officials to teach children health basics.

The Migrant Project has two full-time social workers whose primary responsibility is to identify migrant social needs. The social workers also deal with the migrant and district staff to promote a coordinated approach to meet rural and migrant health needs.

The social workers also provide some direct casework consultation and serve as consultants and resource people.

The Maricopa County Migrant Health Project staff is comprised mostly of a team of retired doctors, dentists, nurses and pharmacists who volunteer their services.

Maricopa Legal Aid Society

Glendale (Maricopa County), Arizona 85301
(602) 937-2733

Funding Source: U.S.D.O.L.
Service Area: Maricopa County
Migrant Population Served: Information unavailable

The Maricopa Legal Aid Society is a project designed to serve migrants in Maricopa County with legal advice and litigation in civil cases.

An expansion of service offices is projected for the future.

An additional Maricopa Legal Aid Society service site is located at: 26 North McDonald, Mesa (Maricopa County), Arizona 85201 (602) 834-1700.

Migrant Opportunity Programs (MOP)
6011 A Central
Phoenix (Maricopa County), Arizona 85040
(602) 268-0293

Funding Source: U.S.D.O.L.
Service Area: Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, New Mexico, Oregon, Texas and Washington
Migrant Population Served: 400 college; 1000 high school students

The Arizona Migrant Opportunity Programs offer college, university, vocational school and high school grants to migrant and seasonal farmworkers and their dependents. The Migrant Opportunity Programs help students buy books, supplies and P.E. clothing and insurance.

MOP also helps prospective students find additional financial help, including aid from colleges, government agencies and private sources.

Migrant Opportunity Programs have no field offices. Statewide recruitment is done by outreach workers who visit high schools and disseminate information.

The central office is open year-round, Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Navajo Migrant Opportunity Program (NMOP)
P.O. Box 589
Fort Defiance (Apache County), Arizona 86504
(602) 729-2672

Funding Source: U.S.O.E.O.
Service Area: Navajo Reservation located in parts of Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico and Utah
Migrant Population Served: Information unavailable

The Navajo Migrant Opportunity Program (NMOP) provides assistance to Navajo Migrant workers and their families who seek seasonal farm work and railroad work off the reservation each year.

NMOP assists Navajo migrant families by placing men and women in vocational training programs, permanent jobs and also recruiting and helping children of migrant parents for educational opportunities such as the High School Equivalency Program (HEP).

In addition, NMOP provides referrals to health clinics, Emergency Food and Medical Services (EFMS) and job counseling. NMOP is able to provide these referrals and placement of migrant children in day care and child development centers because it is an outreach program of the Office of Navajo Economic Opportunity (ONEO).

The main office in Fort Defiance also coordinates its efforts with nine other agencies to provide better services.

11. Career counseling

Offices for Project ALMA are open Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., year-round.

Colorado Council on Migrant & Seasonal Agriculture Workers and Families, Inc. (CMC)
665 Grant Street
Denver (Denver County), Colorado 80203
(303) 892-6911

Funding Sources: U.S.D.O.L., U.S.D.H.E.W. (Office of Child Development), Campaign for Human Development, United Fund

Service Area: Adams, Alamosa, Boulder, Conejos, Costilla, Crowley, Delta, Denver, Dolores, Huerfano, Kit Carson, Larimer, Las Animas, Logan, Mesa, Montezuma, Montrose, Morgan, Otero, Phillips, Prowers, Pueblo, Rio Grande, Saguache, Sedgwick, Washington, Weld and Yuma Counties

Migrant Population Served: 14,500 (May 1973 - February 1974)
(Peak Months: May through August)

The Colorado Migrant Council (CMC) was formed and established as non-profit corporation in the State of Colorado to implement programs of assistance to migrant and seasonal farmworkers and their families.

The Colorado Migrant Council has adopted a programmatic philosophy that is consistent with the concept of community participation at all levels of decision-making and problem solving.

The composition of CMC board members is at least 51% farmworker. Thus, the recipients are able to influence the character of the programs which affect them directly. Board members represent the four major areas in Colorado where migrant farmwork labor is most prevalent. The board members have the ultimate decision-making power that affects the Colorado Migrant Council organization policies.

CMC Central Office provides guidance to all projects, maintains a complete set of accounts, verifies statistical reports, establishes and maintains appropriate records and enforces all fiscal policies.

The Colorado Migrant Council has established and maintained liaison with the following institutions and/or agencies: The Colorado Department of Welfare (licensing and standards for the Infant Education program; cooperation with Manpower programs under Title V of the Economic Opportunity Act); The Colorado Department of Health (sanitation and housing standards; medical care under the Migrant Health Act); The programs and adult education programs); The Colorado Department of Employment (CAMPS, MDTA programs, contract OJT services, apprenticeship training, youth programs -- NYC and YOC); The Farmers Home Administration (self-help housing and loans); and the Economic Development Administration (small business loans).

ECONOMIC UPGRADING UNIT

This component establishes four area offices statewide and provides the basic outreach, referral and follow-up services to the Health, Manpower, Child Care and Emergency Food Programs. This outreach component is the major unit of CMC.

A total number of 14,138 (1973) farmworkers were served by the seven CMC satellite offices with one or more of the following services:

Health Care is contracted from available medical resources or referred to the Migrant Health Project, County Health Department, local physicians, nurses and U.S.D.H.E.W. Clinics.

Hospitalization is secured for migrants locally; patients in need of specialized care are brought to the Colorado General Hospital in Denver.

Dental Services. Migrants are referred to U.S.D.H.E.W. Clinics and other Migrant Health units for dental attention.

Public Assistance. Area office personnel assist migrant farmworkers in filling out necessary public assistance forms, such as food stamp applications.

Colorado Rural Legal Service, a CMC delegate agency, provides farmworkers a wide spectrum of services, including advice, representation, litigation and appeals in civil matters. Legal Aid offices are located in Colorado's four major areas where migrant farmworkers may be found. (For further information, see Colorado Rural Legal Service profile.)

Child Care Headstart centers serve migrant toddlers and children with extensive supportive aid. (For further information, see CMC Head Start - Day Care Center profile.)

Emergency Food and Medical Services (EFMS) provide emergency food vouchers to migrant farmworker families at $1.00 per day per person up to seven days or $35 limit per family. The EFMS program operates in the four area offices. (For further information, see CMC-EFMs profile.)

Job Placement (Farm/Non-farm) Manpower and Supportive Services are designed to effectively resettle migrant farmworkers into permanent non-farm employment.

Economic Development offers technical support to design, package, and implement economic development projects in inpact poverty communities through self employment opportunities.

Other Services available through CMC include: tax information, translation (English to Spanish) of important papers, counseling on job problems with employer, interpreting in court, help with credit problems, clothing, housing (See Colorado Rural Housing Development Corporation Brighton profile) and liaison with utility and other such companies.

MANPOWER TRAINING AND JOB PLACEMENT

The Manpower Program is designed to effectively resettle migrant farmworkers into permanent non-farm job occupations through a combination of vocational training and supportive services. The project is oriented for the entire family.

All participating migrant and seasonal farmworkers must meet the eligibility requirements (50% of income in farm labor in the past year) and earn below poverty level guidelines of U.S.D.O.L. All farmworkers served by this component receive one or more of the following services:

1. Assessment/Orientation
2. Job/Personal /Family counseling (received by all persons served)
3. ABE of basic education
4. Institutional training
5. Private sector training
6. Work experience
7. Job entry
8. Follow-up (three months)
9. Supportive: Housing, food, transportation
10. Stipends

A migrant farmworker may choose to enter into the following vocational job training:

1. Carpentry
2. Machine operator

FAMILY PLANNING

This program cooperates with the Colorado State Department of Health to offer primary care clinics statewide during the pre-harvest and harvest seasons.

The Family Planning Program encompasses counseling, problem pregnancy session, education sessions, contraceptive supplies, medical supplies, delivery, pre-natal care and post-natal care.

Medical attention is given at local health facilities or hospitals; in severe cases the recipients are interned at Colorado General Hospital in Denver, with follow-ups performed by a CMC attendant. Migrant farmworker patients pay a $5 flat fee for out-patient care and $50 maximum for the entire stay at the hospital.

Transportation to the Colorado General Hospital and local medical facilities is provided by area migrant agencies, when necessary.

The health and planning project is in operation in the Northeastern Colorado and Arkansas Valley Area CMC Offices.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT COMPONENT

The following services are offered to all rural poor in Colorado who wish to enter into a business venture or expand an existing business. This includes both individuals and community groups.

1. Loan packaging assistance
2. Assistance in procuring government contracts through the Small Business Administration 8-A Program.
3. Project Development
4. Management Assistance
5. Seed Capital

Currently Business Development Specialists and Project Developers are stationed in Delta, which covers Montrose and Mesa Counties; La Salle, which covers north central and northeastern Colorado; Lamar, which covers the Arkansas Valley; and Denver, which covers Pueblo and part of north central Colorado and is the main office for the component.

Colorado Migrant and Rural Health Program is the major provider of health and dental services to migrant and seasonal farmworkers in Colorado.

The Colorado Migrant and Rural Health Program operates from four area offices (Northeast, North Central, Arkansas, Western Slope) in coordinating the delivery of medical care to migrants.

Migrant nurses, plus additional nurses during the summer, are assigned to the area offices providing health services at family clinics, migrant schools, Day Care and Head Start centers. Home visits are also made. Referrals to private physicians and existing health programs are initiated by the migrant nurses. Health services are contracted through participating Title I migrant schools and CMC Headstart centers in addition to the regular services provided to the migrant population.

The Colorado Migrant and Rural Health Program offers the following services:

Primary Medical Care:

1. Outpatient diagnosis, screening, treatment and follow-up care for acute and chronic conditions.
2. Specific preventive services.
3. Pregnancy testing and pre-natal care.
4. Assessment, referral and treatment of all individuals presented with systematology indicative of upper and lower respiratory problems.

Area offices are staffed by nurses and family health workers coordinating migrant health teams in the communities that enlist the services of local providers and other health agencies to make referrals for medical services and prescriptions.

When hospitalization is required, the nurses arrange for transportation to the Colorado General Hospital at Denver.

Clinic services are offered at the area offices. The Migrant Dental Clinics are scheduled in conjunction with Migrant Family Health Clinics where the Project Dental Hygienist or students are in attendance in the clinics. Services offered include: dental education, screening, dental examinations and referrals for treatment.

Two Navajo health specialists also work from the Alamosa and Delta Colorado Migrant Council offices, serving Navajo Indians in Montezuma County.

The following is a list of additional health centers and clinics assisting migrant farmworkers through funds provided by the Colorado Migrant and Rural Health Program. Health services and facilites in these clinics or centers provide medical care to migrants when needed.

The degree of comprehensive health care varies with each clinic depending on their involvement with the migrant population.

Although the health clinics are not geared specifically for migrants, they assist the migrant patients by referral, outreach and actual delivery of medical and dental care.

Medical services include: diagnostic, laboratory work, referrals, immunizations, x-rays, physicals for patients with chronic problems, dental care, nursing care and outreach contact.

Funding Sources: None, participation is strictly voluntary
Service Area: State of Colorado
Migrant Population Served: Information unavailable

The Colorado Migrant and Rural Coalition is a representative body of approximately 34 public and private agencies and individuals, concerned with the needs of and services to Colorado's migratory agricultural laborers.

The Migrant Coalition was formed in 1970 through the joint efforts of the Colorado Migrant Council, the Catholic Archdiocese of Denver, and the Migrant Ministry of the Colorado Council of Churches. It has maintained a completely voluntary status with no budget, paid staff, or facility for three years. Meeting space continues to be donated by the Colorado Council of Churches while secretarial and support services are supplied by several of the participating agencies.

The Coalition addresses itself to maintaining a continuous dialogue between member agencies, fostering their closer coordination of health, education, employment and social services to a common client group, the migrant farmworker. Much effort is directed towards disseminating information to the public about legislation at the State and national level to enhance the migrant farmworker's economic, health and environmental status.

The Migrant and Rural Coalition has been instrumental in developing an "open forum" in which such agencies as the Colorado Migrant Council and the Colorado State Department of Health can coordinate their inter-related activities. The Coalition provides a non-partisan environment for the exchange of ideas, information, and planning schedules. Through this interchange, it has been possible, in recent migrant seasons, to supplement some of the supportive health services available to migrants through the joint programs of Colorado Migrant Council and Colorado State Health Department with staff employed by the Colorado Council of Churches to transport migrants in rural areas to sources of medical care.

A third major function of the Coalition is the collection and dissemination of vital information about migrant farmworkers, rural poor and their needs. Because of its unique relation to each of its member service agencies, the Coalition is at the center of a communication network and can serve as a touchstone to groups, agencies and individuals needing such information for planning purposes, lobbying efforts on behalf of farmworker legislation and general public relations.

Migrant Population Served: 1,200

One of the primary functions of the Colorado Rural Legal Services (CRLS) is the delivery of legal services to individual farmworker clients in the areas of employment, welfare, nutrition, consumer complaints, housing, education, civil rights and health problems.

Activities of CRLS include litigation, research, legislative issues and other major projects aimed at modifying policies and practices which affect farmworkers.

The Colorado Rural Legal Service represents the rural poor in various aspects of preventive law concerning avoidance of legal problems with landlord-tenant relations, usurious contracts, credit transactions, consumer purchasing, as well as settlements involving the Department of Public Welfare and Social Security Administration.

CRLS maintains six extension legal service offices in the Arkansas, Northeast, San Luis Valleys and the Western Slope.

The legal service staff numbers sixty-three and include attorneys, lay/advocate investigators, law students and VISTA workers.

Offices for CRLS are open Monday-Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. year-round.

Services offered by the ESEA Title I, Migrant Education (CME) program are varied and numerous. Included in the curricula are English language arts, reading, speech, social studies, natural science, mathematics, and vocational skills and attitudes. Tutoring is also provided, in conjunction with occasional field trips and swimming.

The Title I Migrant Program offers transportation to and from school, breakfast, lunch and a snack, and a cultural awareness curriculum involving dancing, singing, and ethnic foods.

The Colorado Department of Health, Migrant Health Program provides under contract a comprehensive program in medical, nursing and dental health care for the Summer Migrant Education Program.

Migrant nurses from the Migrant Health Program are assigned to the Migrant School to provide in-depth screening of patients for physical ailments and treatment.

Physicians are contracted to provide medical care to all patients referred by the migrant nurses.

University of Colorado Medical School students give complete physical examinations to migrant students in the program. In addition, the medical students work closely with other medical personnel involved with migrant farmworkers.

Additional medical care includes tuberculin skin tests, diagnostic x-rays, immunizations, psychological assistance and audio-visual screening tests.

Mobile migrant education units are operated to do the following:

1. Assist in the evaluation and selection of appropriate educational materials
2. Promote idea exchanges between migrant education programs
3. Lead and/or perform in-service and pre-service training for the Local Education agencies
4. Assist in inter-cultural awareness
5. Aid in the screening for visual and audio problems
6. Facilitate the use of the National Migrant Student Record Transfer System

The Farmworker Family Advocate operates on assignment from the Colorado Migrant Council out of the main lobby at Colorado General Hospital. It works to protect and advise the interests of migrant and seasonal farmworkers.

The Family Advocate provides translation services at clinics and admission centers, transportation, emergency funds and appointment scheduling for farmworkers.

Also available is hospitalization and extensive medical care, for which migrants pay a fee of $5.00 for out-patient care and $50.00 maximum for an entire stay in in-patient care.

The Farmworkers Family Advocate office operates Monday through Friday, year-round, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

High School Equivalency Program (HEP)
Southern Colorado State College
415 Harrison Street
Pueblo (Pueblo County), Colorado 81004

Funding Sources: U.S.D.O.L.
Service Area: State of Colorado
Migrant Population Served: 200 Students

The High School Equivalency Program is designed to give students from migrant families a chance to complete their high school education.

Preparatory instruction is given for General Education Development (GED) examinations.

Recruited from poverty-level families, participants' ages range from 17 to 24.

The HEP students live on college campuses and have access to student facilities, including health and medical services. In addition to instruction, HEP students receive room and board, intensive counseling and tutorial help plus a weekly stipend of $10.00.

Those successful in the GED exams are then placed in permanent jobs, vocational training programs, or college. The youths, once placed, receive regular follow-up services.

Migrant Population Served: Information unavailable

The Division of Employment (Rural Manpower Services) promotes the employment of all available agricultural workers during the periods of greatest labor need and seeks to balance seasonal labor supply and demand. The Rural Manpower Services use various methods to obtain its objectives, including radio announcements, newspaper items, letters, questionnaires, pamphlets and contracts with school and civic organizations. During harvest season, the Rural Manpower Service operates out of mobile trailers stationed in strategic areas of the State.

From May 15 to November 15, progress of crop activities, labor supply and demand, data and wage rates are reported in the weekly Rural Manpower Bulletin.

The Rural Manpower Service provides information regarding peak periods of labor employment in the State to representatives of the Migrant Education Division of the Colorado Department of Education and other interested agencies. This information is used to determine the locations of migrant summer schools and to plan other programs for migrant workers.

Offices for CDLE-RMS are open Monday through Friday, 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., year-round.

The mental health services delivery system in Colorado is comprised of public and private mental health centers, clinics and hospitals, in addition to other treatment facilities. Their services are not projected to the settled-out nor in-stream migrant, but the clinics may serve anyone that seeks help from the Mental Health Clinics.

The basic philosophy of the Division of Mental Health, Colorado Department of Institutions, is that "... every citizen is entitled to the full range of mental health care services which facilitate his efforts to attain a sense of personal fulfillment, respect for the needs of others, and pride in his own life."

The Division of Mental Health attempts to coordinate the delivery of mental health services by the community mental health centers and clinics, State hospitals, Colorado Psychiatric Hospital and the private sector. This coordination involves clearly defining the roles of the various components of the mental health services delivery system, insuring the availability of quality mental health services to all who need such care and minimizing duplication of services.

The basic elements of the Colorado mental health care delivery system are:

1. Inpatient Service (Incare):

   a. 24 hour inhospital care - a therapeutic program in which the patient is in full-time care in a hospital setting. Actual treatment may take place in a location other than the hospital.

   b. 24 hour non-hospital care - a therapeutic program in which the patient is in full-time care in a non-hospital setting as a specific alternative to 24 hour inhospital care. Actual treatment may take place in a location other than the full-time care facility.

2. Outpatient Service (Outcare):

   Service of up to three hours per day provided on a regular or non-scheduled basis. Outpatient services may be provided in a patient's home, at the primary treatment facility, or at some other accessible location.

3. Partial Hospitalization (Intermediate/Transitional/Day Care/Evening Care):

   A therapeutic program for those patients who require less than 24 hour (full-time) care but mor than outpatient care.

4. Emergency Service (Crisis Intervention):

   Immediate mental health care and evaluation for patients in crisis on a 24 hour-a-day, seven-day-a-week basis.

5. Consultation and Education:

Consultation - involves the provision of mental health assistance by qualified personnel to such community care givers and agencies as courts, schools, police, welfare departments, etc. The purpose is to assist these agencies in providing more effective services to their clients.

6. Aftercare:

Follow-up care after receiving inpatient or partial hospitalization treatment.

7. Forensic Services:

Services to persons who enter the mental health system via a court order or pursuant to State statutes on involuntary admission for treatment, evaluation, and/or observation.

8. Rehabilitation Services:

Services designed to reduce the residual deficits of emotional disturbance and to assist clients in attaining the highest level of social and vocational functioning of which they are capable.

Highest priority has been given to the adult group, primarily because as wage earners and parents, adults' disabilities have the greatest impact on society.

All existing community mental health centers and clinics provide some adult outpatient, emergency and aftercare services. Few centers and clinics provide adult inpatient and partial hospitalization services, and they vary widely as to their level of readiness to provide such services.

Adult day care services are available to clients in the inpatient unit. A half-way house provides services to alcoholics; and a full range of services is also available to the alcoholic and his family through the various center service elements.

Offices for the Division of Mental Health, Colorado Department of Institutions are open Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., year-round. Service sites for these offices include:

Dear Mr. Adame:

As requested in your telephone conversation with Mr. Joe Andrade, the following information on Colorado labor camps is herewith submitted:

1. Rocky Ford: 22 new family units in two 6 - unit town-houses, two four-plexes and one duplex. 126 persons can be accomodated - 3 and 4 bedroom units - about $95.00 monthly rent (includes utilities).

2. Center: New dormitory for single agricultural workers 200 single persons can be accomodated. Rent is from $.75 - $1.00 per night during the growing season.

3. Manzanola: 50 units. Opened early 1967. Each unit has 3 modern rooms plus shower, lavatory and stool. Rent is at $50 per month per unit. (See attached write-up).

4. Granada: 72 units. Opened August 1967. Single family homes - living and kitchen area, 3 bedrooms, full bath. Rent - $50 per month including utilities.

The Appropriations Act for Fiscal 1972-73 provided capital construction line item appropriation of $250,000 to the Colorado Division of Housing for, "State Demonstration Grant/Agricultural Housing Construction Support." The Division has been providing 50% of the cost for new construction and rehabilitating structurally sound farm labor housing. Their efforts in this area are very commendable.

I trust that this information will be helpful to you.

Sincerely,

Nick F. Pacheco

Dear Ms. Cotera:

We do not have any records for migrants in Kansas. The sugarbeet companies do their own recruiting in Texas and never place orders with the Kansas State Employment Service.

I believe that the sugarbeet companies in the Garden City and Goodland areas may be able to provide you with this information.

MIGRANT PROGRAMS IN NEW MEXICO

A. MIGRANT PROGRAMS FOR MIGRANT AND SEASONAL FARMWORKERS IN NEW MEXICO

DIRECT MIGRANT PROGRAMS

ESEA Title I, Migrant Education Program
New Mexico State Department of Education
Education Building - State Capitol Complex
Santa Fe (Santa Fe County), New Mexico 87501
(505) 827-5267

Funding Sources: U.S.D.H.E.W.
Service Area: Bernalillo, Chaves, Colfax, Curry, De Baca, Dona Ana, Eddy, Guadalupe, Harding, Hidalgo, Lea, Lima, McKinley, Mora, Otero, Quay, Rio Arriba, Roosevelt, Sandoval, San Miguel, Sierra, Taos, Torrance and Union Counties
Migrant Population Served: 2,728 (year-round)

ESEA Title I, Migrant Education in New Mexico conducts programs in twenty-four counties with forty-six participating schools. The migrant program's main thrust is the education of the settled-out and the intra-State migrant child. Local public schools house the migrant children and provide hot lunches, medical care and related attention that other non-migrant students receive during the school year.

Summer school for migrants is provided in Dona Ana County. The Migrant Health Project from Las Cruces administers medical care to the children enrolled.

The Summer Migrant Program provides individualized attention in oral reading and in language curriculum including: math, art, writing, history, spelling and music.

The child's cultural heritage and human environment is incorporated into each area of learning. Diagnostic testing is done in order to prescribe learning experiences.

In the area of health care, physical examinations and dental care are given aside from the wide range of medical care when it is warranted. Health care facilitors help with follow-up and referrals.

The classroom setting is unique in that children are divided into age groups rather than grades and each child is given individual instruction in the classroom.

Food service consists of a mid-morning snack, a noon meal and a mid-afternoon snack on a daily basis.

A library period is available on a daily basis for all the students in the Summer program. Special help by the librarian aide in tutoring, gathering films and additional bilingual reading material from the Media Center and Bilingual Program is available.

Field trips include visits to national parks, swimming pools and other places of interest in the area. Transportation is given to the migrant children to and from school in the rural and inner city residency areas.

Staff visitation is conducted for recruiting purposes to get the consent from the parents when a child is referred to a doctor for treatment and to obtain information for the enrollment cards and to furnish needed clothes for the family.

Parental involvement in educational programs includes projects, monitoring and evaluation of projects, implementation of programs, serving as community liaison for workers, providing in-service training and conducting needs-assessment.

Students range in age from six to twelve years old. Summer school lasts from June through August on Monday through Friday, from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. The regular school sessionsis from September through May, on Monday through Friday, from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.

Tutors help migrant students in regular school that have difficulty with classroom subjects.

Funding Sources: U.S.D.H.E.W.
Service Area: Guadalupe, Mora, Rio Arriba, San Miguel and Taos Counties
Migrant Population Served: 1,748 (March-peak month)

The Centro Campesino De Salud, a health care agency, assists migrant and seasonal farmworkers who travel to other States. Eligibility criteria taken into account includes occupational classification (farmworker), being employed for more than one-hundred and fifty days in agriculture-related work and meeting the poverty guidelines.

Centro Campesino De Salud covers the northern part of New Mexico with eleven (11) clinics, which may provide direct medical attention. In some instances the farmworker is referred to a local physician and other medical agencies in the community. All the health and dental assistance is free of charge to farmworkers requesting medical treatment.

The delivery of services concentrates basically in out-patient care where the farmworker will be contacted and given medical attention by the county and local health personnel. In-patient care at the clinic site is furnished by visiting physicians, public health nurses, LPN's, RN's, and Family Health Nurse Practioners and additional medical staff.

Seasonal and migrant farmworkers in need of medical and dental services contact the nearest Centro Campesino De Salud Clinic center. A community health aide is always present at the clinic center for in-take and referrals.

Centro Campesino De Salud Program services include the following: In the area of medical and dental care are physical exams, pre-natal and post-natal care, well-child care, family planning and counseling, screening, audio-visual, sereology (blood tests), chest x-rays, tuberculosis testing and follow-up and general health counseling.

Nursing services are provided by a public health nurse, an R.N., an L.P.N. and a Family Health Nurse Practioner.

Acute illnesses and surgery cases are referred to the local hospitals for treatment. Treatment of burns, dislocations, fractures and poisonings cases are also treated at the hospital.

Dental care includes surgical services, extractions and cleaning.

Mental health services are available to treat patients with mental disorders, cases of mental retardation and alcoholism problems.

Patients having mental health problems are referred to existing agencies capable of treating alcoholics, mental disorders and mental retardation. Centro Campesino de Salud will pay for the care given to seasonal farmworkers.

Transportation to and from the clinics is available, including emergency service.

An outreach worker contacts seasonal farmworker families at their homes and refers them to agencies for assistance if the need is evident.

Centro Campesino De Salud is open on Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on a year-round basis.

High School Equivalency Program (HEP)
Eastern New Mexico University
P. O. Box 6761
Roswell Campus
Roswell (Chaves County), New Mexico 88201
(505) 347-3141, Ext. 291

Funding Sources: U.S.D.O.L.
Service Area: States of Texas (West), New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma
Migrant Population Served: 65 Migrant Students

The HEP program is designed to give students from migrant and seasonal farmworker families a chance to complete their high school education and to prepare them for the (GED) examinations. Participants are recruited from poverty-level families. Thirteen institutions participate in the program situated in States with large migrant and seasonal farmworker populations including New Mexico.

The HEP students live on college campuses and have access to student facilities, including health and medical services. In addition to instruction, HEP students receive room and board, intensive counseling and tutorial help, plus a weekly stipend of $10.00. Those successful in the GED exams are then placed in permanent jobs, vocational training programs or continue their education in college with the assistance of the staff recruiter and placement officer within the project. The youths, once placed, receive regular follow-up services.

The HEP program was established in 1960 as part of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) and later transferred to the Department of Labor in July, 1973.

HELP is a non profit organization incorporated since 1965 in the State of New Mexico. Its purpose is to better the economic, social and educational status of low income rural farmworkers and migrants (Mexican American, Spanish American and Navajo) throughout the State.

HELP functions through some thirty to forty community centers. Its projects include adult basic education (literacy and job-oriented skills-training), community leadership and management training, eleven family health centers (clinics) which deliver health care services to isolated rural regions, farmworker owned agricultural cooperatives, several business enterprises, consumer cooperatives, a rural water project to upgrade substandard water and waste water facilities and install new ones where none now exist and self-help housing projects.

Economic Upgrading - In contrast to the formal educational curriculum, HELP community education favors a curriculum which is developed out of the student's immediate interest, experiences and needs. The history, ecology, resources, economics and community life of the people and the area are the basic curriculum ingredients. This gives a person educational reinforcement. It brings his outside experience of the classroom into daily experience.

HELP's economic upgrading curriculum is based on the following:

Adult Basic Education (ABE): includes literacy, sewing, home economics, citizenship and the GED (high school degree equivalency).

English as a second Language (ESL): includes literacy and oral skills in English, often incorporating other classes (ABE and Pre-vocational)

Child Development: provides the children of migrant farmworker families with a day care center for infancy to five, bilingual pre-school and supplemental education for older children for an eight to ten week period in the summer.

Prevocational: includes auto mechanics, welding, woodworking, and other manipulative skills with a dual objective of (1) increasing self-dependency, and (2) income enhancement. Various types of economic and social projects are in operation which show great potential in assisting impoverished communities to become economically and socially self sustaining.

Supportative services for HELP include: recruitment, outreach, counseling and job placement.

In the area of economic development, HELP created Del Sol with a grant from Ford Foundation, as a profit-making subsidiary.

Del Sol is currently providing financial and management technical assistance to HELP-sponsored village industries. The creation of Del Sol, as well as other HELP-sponsored projects, is a direct out-growth of HELP's educational component. Del Sol is selectively establishing village industries of varying kinds to serve as a sound economic base for rural communities.

In 1967, HELP expanded its focus to include rural community economic development. The Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) provided initial funding for research and development, and HELP's branch, the Economic Development Division (EDD) was established.

The Economic Development Division is presently using OEO Special Impact Program (SIP) funds to assist people in seven middle northern New Mexico counties. EDD has channeled SIP funding to help residents of these counties organize and develop various agricultural cooperatives.

HELP's efforts have been directed at helping these cooperatives form solid financial and administrative bases so that in turn the cooperatives can work to help farmers and ranchers develop their region in their own way and on their own terms. These cooperatives are geared to initially increase incomes of local project participants. A future aim is to expand cooperative activities to include more direct services to the consumer. The objective is involvement of as many local residents as possible in cooperative ventures, plus inclusion of local growers in expanded cooperative services after they are firmly established.

The Small Impact Program is a small community venture in which a migrant farmworker is trained to operate a business with the goal of making him the owner. Businesses include: welding shops, auto mechanics, up-holstering, ceramics and body-paint shops.

HELP provides technical assistance in managing the business. An attorney is provided in case of legal problems.

Office space for the Migrant Health Ministry is provided by HELP. In addition, other health services are provided to migrants.

Credit Unions assist rural poor and migrant farmworkers, which are formed through cooperatives. Savings are encouraged and reasonable interest rates are charged on loans.

Both the economic and social development in the southern portion of the State has benefitted from HELP's self-help housing program. Working in their own housing association, one hundred and twenty two (122) farmworker families have been able to move from the substandard dwellings to their own new homes. Over forty (40) houses in community groups are now under construction and fifty (50) families have joined the program.

Self-help has been the touchstone of all of HELP's projects which now include many facets of community development for the rural poor. In addition to the basic component centering on education, both for literacy, citizenship and for vocational training, other components have become integrated to the total program.

HELP provides the technical assistance and supervision and secures loans with Farmer's Home Administration; the families contribute their own labor, and when the community is completed, each family has an equity of approximately $6,000. in their own house.

Senior Opportunities and Services--The primary objectives of this program are (1) services and (2) education on Social Security and other benefits for the target population.

HELP has also begun a project to bring quality water to hundreds of families now without access to safe-water facilities.

The HELP Day Care Program provides child care services for the children of rural low-income migrant and seasonal farmworkers who are working or being trained for jobs. Services are also available to handicapped children.

The HELP Child Care program addressed four major areas of concern:

1. Informal learning structure
2. Emphasis on affective development
3. Bilingual instruction
4. family/cultural

The Child Development Center provides basic health education and practices sound preventive medical practices. Medical personnel performs checkups, immunizations, first aid and referrals.

In addition to language arts, an oral and written program furnishes the children numerous experiences in the arts and crafts, music and drama. Field trips to zoos, museums, parks and mountains are part of the curriculum and provide various laboratory experiences for enrollees. All children participate in games and sports and have access to playground equipment and toys that provide opportunities for muscle growth and the development of coordination appropriate for their ages.

For the pre-school children, the school curriculum and experiences offered conforms to 3 and 4 year old's developmental needs. Language development in both English and Spanish (or in Navajo, if the child is Indian) is encouraged at the oral level.

The curriculum is designed to foster the emotional and physical growth of the children, to encourage cross-cultural participation and to develop both oral and written language skills.

Another prime objective of the program for all centers is an emphasis on the concept of the family and its cultural heritage to serve as a basis for developing and expanding curricula.

The school buses transport children to and from the Day Care Centers.

A nutritionally balanced meal is served daily, including morning and mid-afternoon snacks.

Children's ages range from newborn to three years old in the Day Care component and three to fourteen years old for the Child Development program.

The center's operational hours vary, from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and 6:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Service sites and operation hours are listed below:

OTHER PROGRAMS THAT PROVIDE SERVICES FOR MIGRANTS

New Mexico Employment Security Commission
Rural Manpower Service
505 Marquette Avenue, N.W.
P. O. Box 1928
Albuquerque (Bernalillo County), New Mexico 87103
(505) 842-3264

Funding Source: U.S.D.O.L.
Service Area: Bernalillo, Chaves, Colfax, Curry, Dona Ana, Eddy, Grant, Lea, McKinley, Quay, Rio Arriba, Roosevelt, San Juan, San Miguel, Santa Fe and Taos Counties
Migrant Population Served: Information unavailable

The primary tasks of the Rural Manpower Service in New Mexico are the following:

A. Operation of a farm labor service to recruit needed farmworkers and to assist applicants wanting a farm job to locate work.

B. Operation of a mobile team exclusively in small communities and in counties that do not have a regular employment office. This team provides all the services available through regular offices. It also compiles and publishes a manpower resource report for each county where it works. The manpower resource reports are used for planning and economic development work.

C. Contracting with the National Manpower Administration and sub-contracting with the Cooperative Extension Service of New Mexico State University and the Navajo Tribe for manpower services in southern New Mexico and for the entire Navajo Nation.

In addition, Rural Manpower Bulletin is published each Monday from May until the end of the agricultural season, i.e., usually late October or early November. Each week the Rural Manpower Representatives serving the agricultural areas of the State supply pertinent information on the agricultural and rural nonagricultural activities for inclusion in the Bulletin.

Farmworkers are recruited for employment by means of newspaper, radio and TV publicity, posters, fliers and handouts describing job opportunities; personal visits to applicants' homes and places where they congregate and recruitment from local employment office files. Pickup trucks equipped with two-way radios to maintain contact with the local office are used on the Navajo Reservation. They are supplemented by trailers permitting outstationing of recruiters during peak periods of need.

The Cooperative Extension Service Hitchhike Program continues to operate in the southern section of the State. This program, with offices at Deming and Socorro is providing a wide range of manpower services to Luna, Hidalgo and Socorro Counties. It helps community development organizations by making a comprehensive study of the manpower resources of an area, including information on the potential skills of the work force. The program also assists development groups in making a detailed study of other resources of the area which can be used by the community in planning for the expansion of job opportunities.

Migrant Population Served: Information unavailable

The New Mexico State Health Agency operates County Health Centers in 29 counties. The Centers provide, variously, part or all of the following services: immunizations, high blood pressure screening, well-baby clinics, pre and post-natal care, cancer clinics for women, V.D. clinics (lab work, diagnosis and treatment), cardiac diagnosis and medication, family planning, and pediatric care. The centers do not provide emergency care.

Two physicians are assigned to each county health center. Registered and public health (LVN) nurses are also assigned to each center. Public health nurses make home visits and refer clients to physicians.

Migrant and seasonal farmworkers are assisted upon referral to the County Health Center and receive limited medical attention. The centers, in turn, refer the farmworkers to Migrant Health Projects and other community services agencies.

County Health Centers are open 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, year-round.

Migrant and seasonal farmworkers in New Mexico may be eligible for food stamps assistance if they qualify under the adjusted income criteria.

The adjusted income criteria is based upon the number of household members. A household is defined as any group of persons living together as one economic unit purchasing and preparing its food in common. A single person living alone may be considered a household. Excluded from the food stamp household definition are the unrelated roomers, boarders and live-in attendants.

Additional requirements for the food stamp program include household status, work registration and number of dependents. However, established local residency is not a prerequisite.

The head of the household, spouse or authorized representative may apply for food stamps at the local welfare office in the county.

MIGRANT PROGRAMS IN UTAH

A. MIGRANT PROGRAMS FOR MIGRANT AND SEASONAL FARMWORKERS IN UTAH

DIRECT MIGRANT PROGRAMS

Adela Development Corporation
431 East 9th Street South
Salt Lake City (Salt Lake County), Utah 84111
(801) 359-7764

Funding Sources: U.S.O.E.O., Office of Economic Development
Service Area: Box Elder, Cache, Davis, Salt Lake, Utah and Weber Counties
Migrant Population Served: 200 (January - September)

Adela Development Corporation was formerly the economic development component of the Utah Migrant Council. Now, however, it is fully incorporated and apart from a cooperative working relationship, is independent of the Utah Migrant Council.

Adela's objective is to acquire ownership or control of industries, businesses and other economic vehicles, and to give migrant farmworkers who are willing to settle in Utah an opportunity to work and to grow with these businesses or industries. Adela's philosophy is that although its acquired businesses must be run strictly for profit, poor people, especially farmworkers, can be lifted out of poverty and allowed to share in economic development ventures.

Adela now owns or has a controlling interest in a gasoline station in Brigham City, a janitorial company in Salt Lake City, a real estate company in Salt Lake City, and a modular housing company (Intermountain Precision Built Homes) in Ogden. Approximately one-hundred-and-twenty (120) migrant farmworkers who were willing to settle in Utah are now working and learning non-farm jobs with Intermountain Precision Built Homes. The other companies employ varying numbers of settled-out migrants.

Adela is currently looking into the feasability of investing in a Community Bank and Trust Company in Salt Lake City. It also hopes to get a plan of prepaid legal services for its employees.

Adela's Community organization office is open Monday through Friday, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., year-round at the following location:

Adela Centro Communitario
724 South 3rd East
Salt Lake City, Utah 48811
(801) 328-9502

ESEA Title I, Migrant Education
Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction
1400 University Club Bldg.
136 East South Temple
Salt Lake City (Salt Lake County), Utah 84111
(801) 328-5061

Funding Sources: U.S.D.H.E.W.
Service Area: Box Elder, Cache, Carbon, Davis, Salt Lake, Utah and Weber Counties
Migrant Population Served: 471 (June through August)

Educational activities implemented under ESEA Title I, Migrant Education are designed to meet the special needs of the migrant child.

The school curriculum covers arithmetic, spelling, reading and remedial skills which are administered on individual instruction, language development and bilingual curriculum. Physical education, recreation and field trips contribute to the students outdoor school curriculum.

Supportive services available to participants of Title I, Migrant schools incorporate medical, dental screening and treatment, hot lunches, clothing and psychological assistance.

The vocational program is implemented in Utah only at Spanish Forks High School. It is intended to acquaint upper grade students (ages 17-21) with employment. Skills among the areas that are touched briefly are the following: office machines and secretarial, carpentry, plumbing, small engines, electrical, beautician, auto mechanics and welding.

Filmstrips as well as group and individualized instruction techniques are also used.

COORDINATION.

Title I, Migrant Education is coordinated with other programs for various services. The school districts provide transportation for Title I children as well as UMC Headstart-Day Care children, while the local Health Department along with the UMC Migrant Health Project provides health services.

In addition, U.S.D.A. helps with food programs, provides school facilities and materials, etc.

Following is a list of migrant schools which are open on Monday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. during the months of June through August:

Utah Migrant Council (UMC)
1380 West North Temple
Salt Lake City (Salt Lake County), Utah 84116
(801) 528-3531

Funding Sources: U.S.D.H.E.W., U.S.D.O.L. and State of Utah
Service Area: State of Utah, the primary target area is Box Elder, Cache, Davis, Salt Lake, Utah and Weber Counties
Migrant Population Served:
1) The three area offices and central office had 7,490 family encounters in providing direct services and referrals from January 1973 to January 1974
2) Headstart/Daycare -361 children from January 1973 to January 1974
3) The Migrant Health Clinics handled 4,904 cases of direct services and referrals from January 1973 to January 1974
4) Manpower Component enrolled 126 individuals in 1972-1973

The Utah Migrant Council (UMC) came into existence in May 1969. Its foremost objective then was to provide immediate services that would help alleviate the adverse conditions of Migrant Farmworkers in Utah, as well as to make available educational and employment opportunities to this occupational group.

Currently, UMC is emphasizing long-range objectives such as manpower training, education and economic development, but still continues to provide emergency services.

The Utah Migrant Council has set up an Area Advisory Board for each of the four areas which constitute its primary target area. Each of the twelve (12) member boards is composed of migrant farmworkers or their elected representatives. Each Area Advisory Board meets monthly to discuss the effectiveness of current programs, to establish priorities through an election process and to issue recommendations to UMC's State Board of Directors. The Area Advisory Boards have voting representation on the State Board because a certain number of Area Advisory Board members are elected to sit on the State Board.

UMC operates on a State-wide basis; however, it concentrates its efforts on a six-county area where the highest concentrations of migrant and seasonal farmworkers are found during the peak work periods. Among the Council's major components are a manpower project, a migrant Health Project and a Headstart/Day Care Project. Additionally, the Utah Migrant Council staffs and maintains a network of area offices by which emergency-type services may be rendered.

AREA OFFICES

UMC operates three area offices which, to a great extent, depend upon their outreach capability to provide needed services on a daily basis to migrant families. Among these services are the following:

The recruitment and screening of migrant individuals of all ages for UMC programs, such as the Manpower Program, Adult Basic Education, English as a Second Language Classes and the Headstart/Day Care Program.

Migrant aides and outreach personnel make personal visits to the migrant families at labor camps and other types of housing to inform them and educate them on the various types of services that are available through UMC, as well as other local, State and Federal Programs.

Referrals and follow-up are made to Title I, Migrant Education Programs, temporary housing, health care, optical care, child care, driver education classes, legal aid services and others for which they are eligible.

Under its Emergency Food and Medical Services (EFMS) Program, UMC provides emergency food vouchers or money for purchases of food in an emergency and also when families are unable to obtain services under the Federal Food Stamp Program or other supplemental Food Programs.

Migrant aides who work with the area offices may provide transportation to a source of services under some circumstances and also serve as translators.

In many instances UMC personnel are able to place farmworkers directly on non-farm jobs which pay higher wages. This type of direct placement usually is preceeded by a few weeks of employability skills development training.

In addition to the Central Office in Salt Lake City, which also provides the above services to migrants in Salt Lake County, UMC operates and maintains the following three area offices year-round:

County	Service Site	Service Area
BOX ELDER	Utah Migrant Council 129 South Main Street Brigham City, Utah 84302 (801) 723-6677	Box Elder and Cache Counties
UTAH	Utah Migrant Council 46 West Utah Avenue Payson, Utah 84651 (801) 465-2492	Utah County*
WEBER	Utah Migrant Council 2423 Grant Avenue Ogden, Utah 84401 (801) 399-3711	Weber and Davis Counties

County	Service Site	Service Area
WEBER	Utah Migrant Council 2423 Grant Avenue Ogden, Utah 84401 (801) 399-3711	Weber and Davis Counties

*This office extends some services to Carbon and Iron Counties during their peak work periods.

MIGRANT HEALTH PROJECT

The Utah Migrant Health Project is under the auspices of the Utah Migrant Council and is funded directly by U.S.D.H.E.W. The administration of this particular component takes place from the UMC Central Office in Salt Lake City. The service area for the project is primarily the same six-county area covered by the area Offices plus parts of central and southern Utah which are covered by a mobile clinic.

In addition to four clinics and a mobile clinic, the UMC Migrant Health Project is funded by the Utah Department of Social Services to enter into contracts with area hospitals that provide services beyond those normally offered at the clinics.

HOSPITALIZATION PLAN

The Utah Migrant Council has entered into agreement with Department of Social Services to implement the migrant emergency hospitalization plan. The following eligibility requirements are established by the Department of Social Services. The basic intent of the hospitalization plan is to provide hospitalization to those Migrants because of residency that do not qualify for public assistance. The Utah Migrant Council has agreed to the following contract:

1. To facilitate and encourage all migrants in need of hospitalization to complete an application for medicaid, if denied, the patient shall be eligible for the Migrant Hospitalization Plan.
2. Individuals must then be certified by the Migrant Health Project as qualifying under migrant status.
3. The Migrant Health Project representative will be responsible to inform each hospital and physician as to the source of payment and appropriate procedure for payment.

DENTAL SERVICES

The following list of benefits are provided under the migrant worker contract with the Delta Dental Plan:

A. Oral examination, including diagnostic radiographs where feasible.

B. Oral prophylaxis - instructions will be provided to the patient by the dentist, without additional charge, on home care and caries prevention

C. Restoration of various permanent and primary teeth with:

   1) Silver Amalgam
   2) Silicate Cement
   3) Plastic Materials
   4) Stainless Steel Crown
   5) Temporary Anterior Plastic Crowns

D. Pulp therapy for permanent and primary teeth

E. Endodontics (anterior teeth only)

F. Extraction of non-restorable teeth

G. Other services required for the relief of pain or acute infection

Dentists may perform exams, take radiographs, do prophylaxis and treat for pain and/or acute infection. If total treatment exceeds $35.00, pre-authorization must be obtained before proceeding with remaining treatment. Upon receiving the authorization from Delta, the dentist may then proceed to complete the necessary treatment and may submit for payment after signing the "treatment completed" statement. The dentist shall review the indicated plan in the light of correcting the problem in the most economical manner. This review is requested in order to do the most service for the many patients under the Migrant Worker Program.

When the funds are expended to within 15% of the total contract amount, notification will be given to all dentists and the Migrant Worker Office and any further exam must proceed upon a pre-authorization basis as to all treatment. This is to prevent the possibility of exceeding the allocated funds under which the migrant workers have contracted.

CLINIC SERVICES

The clinic facilities and staff provide the following patient care services:

1) Primary Health Care (initial contract) for those members of the target population who reside within the area serviced by the Health Care Clinic. The service will encompass appropriate diagnostic and therapeutic services. It will not provide medical coverage for chronic or prolonged illnesses. The program will make referral arrangements with other physicians for proper care. Preventative services will be emphasized to include: routine immunization clinics, physical exams, family planning, well-child clinics and pre-natal care.

2) Education programs are conducted for the migrant population that include nutrition, family planning, child care, environmental health, etc.

3) Referral of a migrant patient to other health care facilities for health care needs outside the scope of the health clinic are made. These needs may include hospitalization or more elaborate diagnostic and therapeutic measures.

The Health Services Program for the migrant workers consists of two primary parts. The medical treatment program as outlined above and outreach programs staffed by the Migrant Health Specialist under the supervision of the area nurse. The outreach services consist of the following:

1) Identification of migrant families not registered with the program. Provide information to the family on Health Program Services and procedure in obtaining care and what to do in an emergency.

2) Initiate T.B. and anemia screening for identification of those families who need medical follow-up and skin testing.

3) Referrals to resources in the community that could benefit the migrants such as Family Services, Medicaid, Medicare, Public Health Department, Planned Parenthood, Teacher's Aid, etc.

4) Follow-up of patients.

5) Transportation to and from the medical provider.

6) Home health assessments.

7) Environment health assessments.

The educational aspect of the program will be primarily preventative in nature and will include workshops covering the following topics:

1) Nutrition - The nutritional workshop will provide information and discussion on nutritional needs of the family and the information on (A) food selection (B) diet assessments (C) food stamp program.

2) Family Planning - Knowledge of the latest techniques and methods of family planning is now a part of the health team instruction. To inform the migrant families of the availability of these medical services and to explain the purpose of birth control will be a duty of the health team. The staff uses it's cultural awareness to help migrants overcome their fears and misconceptions about family planning. The emphasis is to make every child a wanted child.

3) Home Nursing and First Aid - Knowledge of rearing children at home and administering first aid.

MOBILE CLINIC

A mobile health care unit is utilized to provide health care services to the target population in the central and southern portions of Utah. The mobile van is stationed in given areas, known to the population, and will be available hours suitable to the target population.

The mobile van and staff are organized to provide the following services:

1. Limited primary care
2. Preventative services
   - A. Immunization
   - B. Well-Child Clinics
   - C. Prenatal Care

The following are the service sites for the Utah Migrant Health Project:

County	Service Sites	Months, Days & Hours of Operation	Staff Available
BOX ELDER	Tremonton Migrant Health Center 65 West Main Street Tremonton, Utah 84337 (801) 257-3063	June - Tuesdays & Wednesdays - 6:00 pm.-10:00 pm. July & August Tuesdays, Wednesdays & Thursdays 6:00 pm.-10:00 pm. September Tuesdays & Thursdays 6:00 pm.-10:00 pm.	One physician with supportive medical staff
SALT LAKE	Murray Health Department 164 East 5900 South Murray, Utah 84107 (801) 262-6667	June - September Tuesdays 6:00 pm.-10:00 pm.	Two physicians with supportive medical staff
UTAH	Utah Migrant Health Clinic 166 North University Ave. Provo, Utah 84601 (801) 375-3973	June - September Thursdays 7:00 pm.-10:00 pm.	One physician with supportive medical staff
WEBER	Ogden Migrant Health Center 2932 Grant Avenue Ogden, Utah 84401 (801) 393-5355	June - September Mondays, Tuesdays & Thursdays 7:00 pm.-10:00 pm.	One physician with supportive medical staff

The Migrant Health Project purchases health services for migrant and seasonal farm workers from area physicians or health facilities only when the health need cannot be met by the existing migrant health clinics or other State programs such as general assistance, emergency assistance, etc.

Physician vouchers are issued to pay for the services of another doctor only when this is authorized by project staff in an emergency situation or when a project doctor makes a referral to another doctor.

Pharmacy vouchers are issued for drug items prescribed by either a project physician or by a fee-for-service physician.

Institutional vouchers are used for outpatient services of a medical care institution in an emergency situation or when an eligible migrant patient requires such services, as lab work or diagnostic work up and outpatient treatment.

HEADSTART - DAY CARE PROJECT

UMC's Headstart - Day Care project is administered from the central office in Salt Lake City. The entire project is coordinated so that services may be provided to migrant children from birth to five years of age, whose parents are either working full-time or are enrolled in UMC educational programs or a combination of both. Under a dual funding arrangement, the Day Care project is funded by U.S.D.H.E.W. for children three to five years old. Both projects are implemented in the same six public schools.

The Headstart - Day Care Project coordinates extensively with the State's Title I, Migrant Education Program for six to seventeen year olds which is also implemented at the six public schools. Thus, migrant children from birth to seventeen years old attend the same schools which implement summer programs.

The service area of each of the service sites is normally within the school district in which the service site is located. However, if high concentrations of children are located in an area outside the school district, and if there are no summer migrant education programs for them, then transportation can be provided.

The hours of operation of the Headstart - Day Care programs are designed to fit the needs of migrant families. Although they may vary slightly from one school to another, they are normally from 6:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., on Monday through Friday.

The program of education at the Headstart - Day Care centers emphasizes methods and techniques which are essential for preventing, reducing and eliminating problems of health, nutrition, growth development, language difficulties or learning disabilities. The programs also emphasize good practices of safety, nutrition, cleanliness and supervision.

Using a bilingual-bicultural curriculum, the educational components of the program emphasize the following areas: group interaction, self-expression, pre-reading skills, eye-hand coordination, cognitive (earning and identification of objects), motor sensory development, creativity and self-concept improvement, cultural awareness and play and recreation.

In addition to the above, transportation, breakfast, lunch and snacks are provided.

Health care services include physical exams, lab tests, dental care, immunizations, vision and learning screening, and referrals of chronic cases.

All of the above services are offered free of charge and coordinated with the UMC Migrant Health Project, County Health Departments, U.S.D.A. and the school districts.

Parents are encouraged to participate in all aspects of the program through Parents Advisory Committees.

Service sites of the Headstart and Day Care Centers are:

MANPOWER PROJECT

The UMC Migrant Manpower Program is funded by U.S.D.O.L. and is a State-wide program designed and implemented to upgrade and improve the educational levels and employability skills of migrant farmworkers so that they may be able to be placed in higher paying, non-farm jobs. The goal is essentially one of determing what skills, services and abilities a person needs to make him capable of beginning at the entry level in a job, and then to prepare him in the shortest time possible for placement. About forty farmworkers were helped during 1973 and eighty-four during 1974 in this program.

This program is coordinated with the Utah Department of Employment Security, other Manpower Programs, public assistance agencies, parential employers and educational institutions for maximum effectiveness. Training can take anwhere from three to thirty-seven weeks and can be a combination of classes. Jobs range from floral design to construction trades.

Seventy-five slots are available in 1974 for the Migrant Manpower Program. However, additional applicants may be enrolled in other manpower programs. All enrollees are recruited and screened by UMC Area Office Committees and then referred to Migrant Manpower Program at 233 West 200 North, Salt Lake City, Utah 84103, (801) 363-3921.

At the area offices, counselors and job developers meet with all applicants and explain to them in detail what the program is about and what is expected of the applicants. At the same time, it is determined in what job area or areas the applicant is interested. It is then determined what skills or educational level each applicant already possesses. From this study, a decision is made by UMC personnel, in consultation with the applicant, about which course to follow:

ORIENTATION

All manpower enrollees are given an orientation period, which normally lasts three weeks. During this period, trainees are prepared in such skills as interviewing and are otherwise introduced into the world of non-farm work. After this, some trainees can be placed directly into jobs, while others require further training.

ON-THE-JOB-TRAINING (OJT)

After orientation, some trainees are placed directly into jobs and require no further formal training in either a classroom setting or a job setting. However, others enter into jobs directly and receive extensive training for a specified period while they are working. Employers recognize the potential for this type of an arrangement and usually give their full cooperation. All OJT trainees must be paid the existing minimum wage set by law. After the training period, trainees become permanent employees.

ADULT BASIC EDUCATION AND ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE

The purpose of the ABE/ESL is to improve the daily effectiveness of trainees after orientation and/or to further prepare them for advanced training in a structured vocational program. The program is flexible enough to meet individual needs and may emphasize such areas as computational reading and writing skills. Individualized instruction enables each trainee to proceed according to his own abilities and prior knowledge. All the instruction and testing is done by qualified teachers in a classroom setting.

SKILL TRAINING

For those trainees who are not placed directly into jobs, Skill Training is the next step after ABE/ESL. As mentioned previously, the choices of trades for the trainee are varied and many. Some training courses require high entrance examinations and may involve some technical instruction.

While migrant farmworkers are enrolled with the Migrant Manpower Program, they are eligible to receive a wide range of services besides training. Counseling, job placement anywhere in the State and follow-up are routinely provided, as are stipends or allowances. Families of trainees are eligible for UMC Programs and services such as Headstart - Day Care, Health Care, emergency-type services etc. Additionally, families are encouraged and helped in applying for other services for which they are eligible.

The institutional training sites for the Migrant Manpower Program are those designated from one year to the next depending on contractual agreements; however, the following are 1974 service sites:

ELIGIBILITY

The basic eligibility requirements for entry into the Migrant Manpower Program are:

1. Must be at least 17 years old;
2. Must be a legal resident (or citizen) of the United States;
3. Must have been employed only on a seasonal basis (part of the year) during the twelve months preceding application;
4. Total household income during the twelve months preceding application must be below the poverty-level for household size;
5. In the eighteen months preceding application, the applicant's family must have earned at least fifty per cent of its total income in agricultural work during any consecutive twelve month period. This means they must have received some income from farm work, not just welfare;
6. All applicants must accept job placement as a final goal of any training received and must agree to participate fully in employability development efforts.

TUITION SUPPORT PROGRAM

As part of the larger Migrant Manpower Program, the Tuition Support Program is a relatively new program for the Utah Migrant Council. There are ten slots open for 1974. Prospective applicants are recruited by UMC personnel, screened, helped with the application process and otherwise assisted with summer jobs, stipends or allowances and supportive services or other types.

This component enables migrant and seasonal farmworker youth to take advantage of higher educational opportunities that will enable them to make a transition in their lives at an early age. All applicants must meet the requirements of age and income and must have a high school diploma, GED or the equivalent.

Tuition support is provided by UMC in order to obtain matching funds from colleges or universities under the following categories:

1. Economic Opportunity Grants
2. Work-study Program
3. National Defense Student Loans
4. Scholarships
5. Private Foundation Grants

Foremost priority is given to those applicants who are active migrants.

HOUSING

Housing for farmworkers has always been and continues to be a major problem in Utah. Recently, an eighteen month moratorium was imposed by the Federal government on funding for housing projects. For this reason, UMC's housing component is a very small one. It consists mainly of trying to mobilize local resources for migrant housing, of finding emergency housing for farmworkers, of support (non-financial) for low-income housing projects and of working cooperatively with the Weber-Davis Housing Corporate to alleviate the housing situation.

Weber-Davis Housing Corporate
P. O. Box 528
Layton (Davis County), Utah 84041
(801) 825-3161

Funding Sources: Utah Migrant Council (UMC)
Service Area: Davis and Weber Counties
Migrant Population Served: Information unavailable

The Weber-Davis Housing Corporate, a spinoff component of the Utah Migrant Council (UMC) locates and supports low-income housing projects for settle-out and in-stream migrants. The corporate works closely with UMC in co-ordinating other services made available to migrant farmworkers not related to housing.

The Weber-Davis Housing Corporate serves as a liaison and receives loans from FHA for the construction of homes for migrant families. Presently twenty-eight migrant families in Layton (Davis County) are accomodated at the housing projects.

Pre-construction training prepares new home owners for the responsibilty of ownership by explaining taxes, insurances, mortgages and pertinent advice effecting their real-property.

The Weber-Davis Housing Corporate provides adult student tutorial and culture enrichment programs. The Adult Education Program covers practical home-making skills, consumer education and furniture construction. The student tutorial program in cooperation with Weber State Extension Service offers language, reading and math assistance to settle-out migrant children during the regular school term. During the summer session a VISTA worker is assigned to the tutorial program at the migrant schools. The cultural enrichment program utilizes bi-lingual educational materials.

Migrant farmworkers are referred by the Weber-Davis Housing Corporate staff to the following agencies for further assistance: (1) Community Action Agency, (2) Senior Citizens Program, (3) Public Welfare Office (food stamps), (4) Social Security Office, (5) Utah Migrant Council (UMC) and local social services agencies.

The Weber-Davis Housing Corporate office is housed at St. Peters Church, 1274 East 1450 South in Clearfield (Davis County) and is open Monday through Friday, from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on a year-round basis.

The Rural Manpower Offices in Utah extend their services to farmworkers in manpower training resources and job referrals within the State. Farm labor information is distributed to migrant farmworkers through leaflets, radio spots, monthly bulletins and handbills.

Vocational training for migrants is coordinated through the Utah Migrant Council which refers prospective trainees to the Employment Security offices. The entire spectrum of vocational training is available in programs ranging from three to thirty-seven weeks. A combination of classes can be taken in the areas of plumbing, welding, auto mechanics, business, electronics and cosmetology. Several other courses are available.

Stipends, testing, counseling and placements are provided by the Rural Manpower Office.

Farmworkers, while working in Utah, may use the local rural manpower office for locating farmwork employment and crop and wage information. Rural Manpower Offices are open from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Monday through Friday, year-round at the following sites:

Migrant and seasonal farmworkers in Utah may receive nursing health care through programs offering direct medical treatment. Residency in the State of Utah is not a requirement for assistance eligibility at the Public Health Nursing services.

Public Health Nurse duties consist of visits to clinics, schools and health centers.

In all activities, emphasis is placed on the prevention of disease and the promotion of health and rehabilitative measures.

Each county in the State has one or two public health nurses who assist a family or individual in seeking appropriate health care from physicians and agencies. Actual medical care by the nurse is provided in some instances.

Patients who require additional medical treatment are referred to existing State and local health services.

Public Health Nurses' services are available Monday through Friday, year-round from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. at the following locations:

The Division of Rehabilitation services are concerned primarly with helping those who are handicapped - physically, mentally or emotionally. Farmworkers who suffer from any of these maladies are eligible for rehabilitation assistance without charge from the State Division of Rehabilitation Services.

Once an applicant has been evaluated, the rehabilitation process can take various predetermined routes.

Counseling and guidance is provided throughout the entire duration of the individual's rehabilitation tenure. Health and restoration services involve medical and psychological treatment as well as prosthetic devices that reduce the effects of a handicap.

Training prepares a handicapped person to handle a vocational job. Job placements and follow-up services are often provided to complete the individual's vocational plan. Allowances may be given for transportation.

Services to family members may be provided if they relate to the rehabilitation of the client.

Referrals of disabled handicapped to this program are initiated by social services, migrant programs, school physicians and other professional workers.

Any individual in the State of Utah who is under twenty-one years of age and is suspected of having a crippling disability is eligible for diagnostic services without charge or restriction. This service is available to farmworker families.

Services offered by Crippled Children Services (CCS) include consultations, physicians office visits, direct clinical care, social service counseling, psychological evaluations, drugs, appliances, hospitalization, surgery, laboratory services, x-rays, EKG's, EEG's, etc., with special clinics for cystic fibrosis and child development. All of the preceding are for diagnosis, evaluation and treatment of crippled children. Services are offered throughout the State in the urban areas through consultation and direct clinic services at the State Division of Health and in the rural area through itinerant clinics held in conjunction with local health departments and also by bringing rural children to clinics and facilities not available in the rural areas.

Referrals for service may be made by any individual or agency. Most referrals come from physicians and give medical descriptions of problems involved. Referrals are made on an application form provided by the Crippled Children's Service. Forms are available in any physician's office, local health departments, or at the State Division of Health. Referral requests are handled by:

The Bureau of Local Health Services incorporates medical and dental assistance to indigenous target clientele and migrant and seasonal farmworkers. Migrant and seasonal farmworkers may receive direct medical treatment through referrals from another agency which assists farmworkers through the district health departments and through local health unit service sites.

Local health service offices are staffed by a physician, public health nurses, environmental health specialist, community health educator, dentist (part-time) and a laboratory technician. The degree of medical and dental care varies among the four health districts, but generally each offers a comprehensive range of health care services.

The Public Health Nursing program emphasizes community health. This involves maternal and child health, crippled children's services, home health services, TB, venereal disease investigation and follow-ups along with immunization clinics. Referrals of any acute or chronic illnesses found are to be made with the local physicians.

Dental screening and care is available to migrant and seasonal farmworker children and local resident's children.

Environmental health services embrace a broad spectrum of functions from food services inspection, water and solid waste disposal, building inspection to migrant housing inspections.

Local Health Services offices are open Monday through Friday, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on a year-round basis at the following service sites:

The Local Assistance Payments Offices verify, certify and sell food stamps to migrant families in the area. Migrant and seasonal farmworkers can apply for food stamps in accordance with the same standards applicable to residents of Utah. Migrant and seasonal farmworkers are considered residents, but must apply within the region in which they seek employment.

Migrant and seasonal farmworker families with depleted funds are eligible to receive free food stamps for thirty days under the Zero Purchase Plan.

Eligibility requirements for the food stamp program are based on income, household status, work registration and number of dependents. Farmworkers must have been unemployed for thirty days and be registered for employment. The residency requirements for migrant and seasonal farmworkers is considered met unless they specifically state that they are only traveling through the State of Utah. The Utah Migrant Council Offices may provide certificates to satisfy the thirty day unemployment requirement.

The offices of Assistance Payments (food stamps) are open Monday through Friday, from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on a year-round basis at the following locations:

Migrant and seasonal farmworkers in Utah may contact the various community action agencies (CAP's) which provide extensive services to disadvantaged residents.

Nutritional aid and supplemental food are given to persons in the poverty cycle. Supplements furnished include powdered and evaporated milk, juice, dehydrated potatoes, vegetables, canned meats and dehydrated dry cereal.

Legal aid is available in certain CAP agencies.

Family counseling services plus education and referral assistance to persons with alcoholism problems may be obtained from the CAP agencies.

The purpose of the CAP agencies is to mobilize and conduct an attack to eliminate both the causes and the effects of poverty.

Each CAP agency is autonomous from the main administrative office in Salt Lake City and from the other local CAP offices.

The OEO guidelines set the participant eligibility requirements.

Community Action Agencies are open Monday through Friday, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on a year-round basis at the following service sites:

The Anti-Discrimination Division receives complaints from migrant and seasonal farmworkers and individuals covering employment discrimination and wage disputes between grower and farmworker.

Research is initiated to determine facts and hold hearings concerning particular complaints.

There are no eligibility requirements for migrant and seasonal farmworkers.

The Utah Anti-Discrimination Act of 1965 and the "Growers Code of Fair Practices", (Executive Order) was enacted to prevent discrimination in employment practices on the basis of race, color, sex, religion or ancestry and national origin. The Anti-Discrimination Division enforces the following State of Utah Labor Code regulations: employment of women and minors; Utah Labor Relation Board and Anti-Discrimination Act as amended - May 9, 1973; Industrial Commission of Utah.

Office hours are from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Monday through Friday on a year-round basis.

Dear Mr. Adame:

Migrant Farm Labor Housing
in the State of Utah

This letter is written to inform you that to the best of our knowledge there is no known inventory of Migrant Farm Labor Housing in the State of Utah for the past several years.

The last known Migrant Housing Survey was conducted by the State Health Department (Mr. Craig Merrill) in 1969.

Sincerely,

METHODOLOGY

The information which appears on this report was compiled, analyzed and processed according to a standard research design which was developed by Clearinghouse staff members. This included preliminary research from central information sources, on-site visits, identification of data base and final documentation of information.

PRELIMINARY RESEARCH. Preliminary information on these states was obtained by first accessing the library resources of the National Migrant Information Clearinghouse. Numerous mailing lists, annual reports and funding proposals were consulted. After the identification of major migrant programs, a verification process was implemented in which these programs were contacted by phone in order to verify any items of information that may have been in doubt. The telephone contacts were also very useful in that we were often referred to other agencies or projects of which we had no prior knowledge. This particular process allowed us to make initial contact with many central sources of information for follow-up at a later date.

ON-SITE VISITS. On-site visits were made to numerous agencies in an effort to obtain detailed first hand information on the nature and types of services available to migrant farmworkers in each state. The most current farm labor statistics and data on wages, migrant population, crops, legislation, etc. were also sought. Such visits were limited by time, and generally speaking, were made only to those Federal, State, and local agencies considered central or headquarters offices for other projects or programs.

IDENTIFICATION OF DATA BASE. After all preliminary information had been accumulated and verified, and after all on-site visits had been conducted, counties to be included in the book were established according to the following criteria:

1. Existence of a migrant program, or
2. Inclusion in the service area of a migrant program, or
3. Significant (over 100) migrant population during any season.

For purposes of determining what constitutes a "migrant program", considerable discussion in the subject was necessary among staff members. This resulted in the following classifications of assistance programs which appear in the book:

1. "Migrant Programs in County" include any project whose service components are geared solely towards the needs of migrant or seasonal farmworkers.
2. "Other Programs that Provide Services to Migrants" covers agencies which have at least one service component for migrants as part of a much larger program.
3. "Agencies which May Assist Migrants" are service agencies, projects or organizations whose target populations are the poor, the disadvantaged, and the minorities. Such agencies generally have no special provisions for providing services to migrant families, but often render services if the eligibility requirements are met.

The purpose for resorting to the above classifications of programs was not to subjectively brand programs according to what they do or do not do, but rather to provide the basis for an orderly presentation of the information to the reader and to avoid a confused random arrangement of the material. As is evident, migrant services are the basis for priority in the presentation.

FINAL DOCUMENTATION OF INFORMATION. All information gathered from field visits, correspondence, and research was documented on agency and county profile forms designed and developed specifically for this project. From these profile forms, data was edited and compiled into the resulting report.
